

Reds Warn Coexistence Includes Anti-U.S. Action

Post 11/5/66

LONDON, Jan. 14 (UPI) — The Soviet Union has warned that its policy of peaceful coexistence with the West includes "determined and timely action against the aggressive imperialist forces led by the United States."

The statement was contained in a major policy review by B. N. Ponomarev, a secretary of the powerful Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party. It was published in the World Marxist Review, reaching London today from Prague, where it is issued as the organ of the world Communist movement.

The Soviet Union, it said, "is consistently working to implement the principles of peaceful coexistence of states with differing social systems. Needless to say, the policy of peaceful coexistence includes determined and timely action against the aggressive imperialist forces led by the United States."

It was the only reference in this context to the United States and the statement did not elaborate on the type of action Russia envisages.

It called for "joint action" by the Communists against the so-called aggressive acts of imperialism as a matter of urgency. But Ponomarev also hit out against Red China as the major Communist force undermining Red unity.
